FURTHER INSURANCE DETAILS

Cycling Ireland Public Liability Insurance:

As members of Cycling Ireland your legal liability for any injury, loss or damage to third parties or third party property is covered during any 24-hour period, as are the legal costs of defending any case. Please note that it is for the Insurers to decide on how to defend any incident.

Legal cover offered:

The legal cover provided is "legal liability". In the majority of instances common sense applies, where issues are resolved without the need to go to court or even solicitors. However, if agreement cannot be reached the courts have final say and settlement is reached. Payment would be made subject to limit of indemnity.

Member-to-member cover:

Unintentional injury to members or damage to their property by fellow members is covered except in competition and competition training. However there is no cover for advice given. Member to Member cover operates as an extension of the public liability however all liability is excluded whilst members are involved in competition or competition training.
